'I see great future'

By Alison Coleman

SIX months after taking on an etyres franchise Christian Jones says his only regret is not doing so earlier.

After 20 years in social services Mr Jones, 38, now operates the Crewe, Cheshire, branch of etyres.

"I wanted to escape from my desk job and be my own boss," he said. "Sales are going up every month and I can see that I have a great future with this business."

The success of etyres is built on low-cost tyres, a convenient nationwide mobile fitting service and user-friendly website.

The etyres franchise can be taken on as a sole trader business or management opportunity.
